WARNER FEELS CONFIDENT

Expects Strife Over County Tickets to Bring Out a Fair Vote.

NEW JURY LAW PUZZLES THE VOTERS

Anthorities of Portland Exposition Praise Nebraska for the Exhibit it Made at Lewis and Clark Fair.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Nov. 6 .- (Special.)-"There is nothing more to be said or done," said Secretary Allen of the republican state committee at the close of business tonight. "We have received no word of discontent or dissatisfaction from any part of the state, and the republicans will go to the polls tomorrow in one harmonious body. A good vote should be polled, and the republican ticket should be elected by a good

Governor Mickey, Treasurer Mortensen, Auditor Searle, Attorney General Brown and H. C. Lindsay, clerk of the supreme court, all left for their homes today to vote tomorrow. A number of university students who wished to go home were unable to do so for the reason the railroads would not furnish reduced rates and the mmittee could not expend the money for the transportation.

While the campaign, insofar as the state ticket is concerned, has been a quiet and uninteresting one, the interest in the county tickets is expected to bring out a good vote. Chairman Warner still wants to impress on the voters not to be over confident, but to get out and vote.

Pussle for the Lawyers. The legal department of the state has been asked by the officials of Sloux and Gosper countles for an interpretation of the Judge Tucker law, enacted by the legislature, providing for the selection of jurors. Under the terms of the law neither of these counties can figure just how they from Missouri. can select a jury, and so far the legal department has not been able to solve the puzzle, though it has not yet given up. In the meantime it was thought advisable to write Judge Tucker; but, as he has troubles of his own, this plan has been abandoned and the attorney general will continue at work on the proposition, though guesses from other attorneys will be in order.

The proposition to be solved is as fol-Section 1674 of the supplement to Cobbey's statutes provides:

Cobbey's statutes provides:

How Names Selected From List.—That upon the completion of the canvass of election returns said board shall select at least 500 names from the tally sheet, provided that the tally sheet contains that many names; if the tally sheet does not contain 500 names, then from the actual number of names contained on said sheet, in all counties having less than 30,000 inhabitants in the manner following: They shall divide the number of electors to be selected by the number of the voting precincts and allot to each voting precinct the quotient or number thus obtained; then the board shall divide the number of names found upon each tally sheet of each voting precinct by the quotient or number alloted to each voting precinct the number of names found upon each tally sheet of each voting precinct the number of names of this last quotient, the last name of which shall be selected and put into a receptacle as hereinafter provided; then again count down the tally sheet, selecting every name that corresponds to the number of this quotient, until the full quota of names from said precinct shall have been chosen, and thus continue the process, through each precinct, until the required number of names so selected shall be furnished to the clerk of the district court of the county or his deputy. * * * *

The county attorney of Sloux county re ports that his county cast 404 votes in 1904. In the county there are thirteen precincts. The vote was divided among the precincts divided by the thirty-one. Take the pre- death. cinct where only twelve votes were cast and find how the jury can be selected under the law. That is the puzzle the attorney general is trying to work out, and his helpers are not backward about saying they will take auggestions from any quarter. The law works equally as bad in other counties, as most attractive exhibits of resources shown here.

In my judgment, the very best was made of the opportunity for advertising the resources of Nebraska, and it should afford general satisfaction to the citizens of your section to know that the representation at tracted a remarkably lot of attention. The exhibits were well arranged, and it is seldom indeed that better results are attained by a state than were achieved by the executive commissioner in charge here.

Much good use was made of moving pictures in the pavillon, and I trust that the results to your state will be so direct and marked that your citizens will be amply satisfied with the money thus expended.

House Journal Ready.

House Journal Ready. Timothy Sedgwick of York has sent to the secretary of state copies of the house journal which he has just finished printing. Whether Mr. Sedgwick will have to pay to the state any money because of a failure to deliver the books according to the contract cannot be ascertained until Civde Barnard, assistant clerk of the house informs the secretary of state when be furnished Sedgwick the last copy. The contract reads that Sedgwick shall forfeit $10 for each day the books are not delivered after sixty days after the last copy is delivered to him.

While there has been a lot of kicking on Sedgwick by some of the papers, it is said at the state house that he, more than any other printer, has forced down the price of printing charged the state and he is the only printer who has ever had to pay a forfeit insofar as the records show. The house journals contains 1,666 pages and cost the state $1.16 a page, while the senate journal, which was printed by North & Co., filled 1,664 pages and cost the state $1.64 a page. These latter were delivered some time ago.

Gets the Warners Mixed. Chairman Warner of the republican state committee is getting some good advertising to which he is not entitled. A Minne sota paper publishes the picture of the handsome Nebraskan and beneath it is this inscription: "W. P. Warner, United States senator from Missouri, who endorses the president's position on the railroad question." The Nebraska Senator Warner stands with the president on the railroad proposition all right, but he objects seriously to be called a United States senator

Some Lights Which Failed. Superintendent McBrien has filed away in his office a list of answers to questions asked by applicants for teachers' certificates at the October examination, which are considered just a little beyond the limit. None of those who are in the following list secured certificates, which accounts for the fact that Nebraska has the least per cent of illiteracy of any state in the union. Following are some of the questions and answers which are on file in the office of the superintendent:

LESLIE'S LATEST SCHEME

Wants a Court Order to Ferce People to Voté fer Him.

'DAVE" MERCER BUILDS HIS HOUSE AGAIN

Last Round Up of Politics Refore the Election Tells the Story in the Voting Booths,

Election Today. Election Weather-Fair and warmer. Polls open, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

In the final desperation of impending defeat Charles Leslie is said to have concocted a scheme that is to land him in the office of county judge by forcing people to vote for him whether they want to or not, He is convinced his only hope lies in being carried through by straight party ballots and in preventing people from voting mixed tickets. In the knowledge that the people are new to the use of the voting machine and will require the assistance of election officers to assist them in its operation he has had papers prepared to apply for a court order to prohibit the election officers from giving such assistance to the voters. The plan is to ask for the writ at the last moment so that the election boards will be tied up and the voter unable to operate ones. The front two rooms of the Pilot the machine by himself, will be forced to pull the straight ticket knob or not vote at

"No legally qualified voter should allow himself to be scared off from having his vote cast just the way he wants it," said a well known lawyer. "That is his constitutional right and more than that the law expressly provides that any voter can have an election officer set the machine for him according to his directions. All the votes need do by himself is to pull the lever that registers the vote. No court order can deprive him of this right or prohibit the elecion officers from rendering this assistance.

"Dave" Mercer is in Omaha on the point of again building his often built house. He and his wife have been here most of the time since the Horse Show, and it is given out that the contracts are about to be let for a $20,000 residence on a piece of ground near Fortieth street in the swell residence district. This is said to account for the renewed political activity of Blackburn and the interest Mercer has been devoting to the candidacy of some of his friends who are running for office, all of which is a preliminary to the campaign next year in which Mercer expects to figure.

County Clerk Drexel and his assistants are the busiest people in town, getting out the necessary paraphernalis for the election boards. Wagons were hauling away ballot boxes and the clerks were making up packages of stationery and other supplies. These include books, blank return sheets, candles, pencils, sealing wax and other things necessary to make a proper record of the judgment of the freemen of Douglas county.

One feature of the short registration not heretofore noted is that it appeals to the judges and clerks as promising light work. Some precincts are anywhere from fifty to 150 short of the registration of 1904 and the work of the election officers will be proportionately easier.

At republican headquarters Chairman Gibson, while disappointed at the failure to get out a larger registration, expressed a serene confidence in the result. He said he felt confident the ticket would come through victorious. Secretary Greevy was equally optimistic. "The shortage in the registration," said he, "is greater in pro- Man we have to do now is to get the vote out and our candidates will be elected by substantial majorities."

Frank Bandle, candidate for register of deeds, said: "I probably had as hard a row to hoo as any man ever had on the county ticket and for a while I was a bit dubious. For the last few days, however, there has been a steady indication that the republican ticket has been making stronger appeals to the judgment of the voters.

"I find," said Mr. Fink, "the misrepresentations concerning myself put forth in the interest of Mr. Fleming have reacted for the benefit of the whole ticket. Democrats have come to me, friends of the general democratic ticket, and have assured me that the very apparent effort to center on my opponent all the strength the Hitchcock crowd can control has disgusted the friends of Flynn, Drexel and Deuel. Tracy and Mengedoht followers also see their candidates are being sacrificed to the vindictive feeling of Hitchcock against myself. I have Fair Tuesday and Wednesday. no doubt whatever about the result."

The result of the voting should be known shortly after 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. This is the judgment of the experts in charge of the machines and who have instructed the judges and clerks in their duties. Said one of the custodians:

"An average set of judges ought to be able to make very quick work of taking off the record when the polls close. While it was somewhat difficult to make some of the election officers understand the operation of the machines the great majority of them have a good knowledge of what is to be done and can do it quickly and cor-

Registration figures compiled in the city derk's office show that 15,355 citizens in Omaha have qualified for the election Tuesday and the primaries next spring. This is about 6,000 less than the total in 1904 a presidential year. On October 27, this year, 8,400 voters registered; on October 19, 1,788 and November 4, 5,147. On Saturday the republicans numbered 2.3%, the democrats 1,378, independents 84, populists 4, socialists 60 and prohibitionists 6.

Hundreds of children were walting to see the man who draws the Buster and Tige pictures, and he no ooner reached the store than he was overwhelmed by shouting, eager children. The first two lads to recognize him were Elver Rudeen, 1034 South Twentieth street, of the Mason school, and John Swartz, 1437 South Fourteenth street, of the Comenius school. The boys clung to the Buster Brown artist and were taken inside Brandeis' store, where they were fitted to Buster Brown suits. The scene was intensely interesting to the crowds of people on the streets and hundreds of mothers and fathers were on hand to see their boys try for the prize.

Sam's Territory.

Eleven demurrers were filed in the United States circut court Monday in the land fencing case of the United States against H. B. Reed and others. The demurrers are Harry Haythorn, E. E. Love, E. P. Myers, John Diemer, Frank Gilfoll, Joseph Minor, S. S. Sears, Edward Teeters, Burt Lotspitch, William Lotspitch and Charles Teeters. The demurrer states the parties named are not interested or concerned in the matters pending in the bill and the bill

The suit is one wherein the demurrers are named in the general complaint against ; H. B. Reed et al for illegally fencing public lands in Thomas and Hooker counties, Nebraska, the demurrants being merely employes of the firm of H. B. Reed and others, cattlemen.

ONE-THIRD GOES TO OWNER Amount of Crops to Which Man Who Rents Land is Entitled.

Judge Munger handed down a memoranda opinion Monday morning in the turn mail the trial package in a plain United States circuit court in the case of Alexander Peddie against Mary Burns, which is, in effect, that the owner of farm property rented to a tenant under contract is entitled to one-third of the crops actually grown and raised upon the premises, regardless of the good or bad season and also a reasonable rental for the premises. The opinion states that the evidence does not warrant a finding that the plaintiff's claim for damages in excess of $2,000

is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought fendant's plea to the jurisdiction is not sustained. However, as the action originally was begun in this court and the recove ering being not less than $500 plaintiff cannot recover costs. The suit was on a contract for the use and occupation of certain real estate.

Boy Loses Eye at Play. NORTH LOUP, Neb., Nov. 6 .- (Special.)-The school board of this place has been trying for some time to put a stop to the game of "shinny," without success, but after a long list of minor accidents, including a dislocated arm, the climax was reached yesterday when little Sammy Green, the 13-year-old son of Juson D. Green, had an eye knocked out by a shinny club. His father immediately took him to Grand Island for treatment, but with almost no hope of saving the sight.

Negro Goes to Penitentiary. Sam Craig, the negro who knocked out Dan Gibbelini's eye a week ago without any cause, while Gibbelini was walking along Twelfth street near Dodge, appeared before Judge Day Monday afternoon to change his plea to guilty. The only excuse he offered for his act was that Gibbelini had called him a bad name. Judge Day sentenced Craig to a year and six months in the penitentiary.
